

Please protect our right to privacy, law enforcement doesn't need another power with little oversight or control.

The ability to live private lives with reasonable expectation of noninterference from the government is one of the most compelling stories of our modern democracy in America, please don't make it go away.

Wiretapping the internet gives law enforcement an unprecedented tool for invading the private lives of citizens and should not be allowed in my opinion.

As someone who in the technology field, I know that most of my associates and coworker feel similarly. The FCC should be about protecting the rights of the citizens, not granting law enforcement power over the citizens.
